WEST INDIES.

West Indies—Resolves of the Cubans—The Threatened Attack on Puerto Principe.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, January 19.—At a meeting of the leading liberal Cubans, held yesterday, it was resolved unanimously that Cubans should insist on the autonomy of the Island; that this independence granted by Spain, with all the guarantees necessary to insure its permnancy, would avoid all the difficulties and evils which afflict the country. This resolution is regarded as a declaration of the political faith of the liberal party.

The Prensa, reviewing an article on the subject in the Verdad, a liberal paper, says: If the Cuban party insist on continuing the fight against Spain, it must be with the object either of throwing the Island into the arms of the United States, or forming a republic separate from Spain. This renders it necessary for the Spaniards to reduce them to loyalty by force of arms. But should the Spaniards be attacked by foreigners, and perhaps by superior force forced to leave the Island, they should leave it in ruins and ashes.

A letter from the American Consul at Neuvitas, dated the 14th, says news had been received there from Puerto Principe that the rebel forces, six thousand strong, under General Quesada, were advancing on that city, which was defended by Colonel Mena with a garrison of three thousand men. Ample preparations had been made to receive the insurgents, and the city was in a thorough condition of defense. In view of the intelligence from Bayamo, it was doubtful whether Quesada would persist in his movement. The Spanish Commodore was confident he could repulse any attack of the rebels.

The Bishop of Havana has sent an Ecclesiastic to investigate the case of the Parish Priest of Trinidad, now in jail on a charge of infanticide.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

[THIRD SESSION.]

SENATE: The President's Answer Concerning His Amnesty—The House Copper Bill Amended and Passed. HOUSE: Resolution of Inquiry Rescinded—Printing of 300,000 Copies of Commissioner Wells' Report Ordered—Purity of Elections in Territories—Business from the Senate Considered—Denver Pacific Railroad and Telegraph Bill—The Question of Subsidies.

WASHINGTON, January 19, 1869.

SENATE.

The President's reply to the resolution of inquiry relative to the amnesty proclamation was read.

Mr. FERRY expressed regret that the President confined himself to the giving of precedents, giving no light upon the question of the right of the Executive to grant general amnesty.

Mr. HOWE presented a memorial against any further extension of the time for the completion of the railroad from St. Croix Lake to Lake Superior. Referred to the Committee on Railroads.

Mr. CORBETT presented a memorial of the citizens of Washington Territory against the submission of the question of the ownership of San Juan Island to arbitration, stating that neither the honor nor the interest of the United States will admit of further surrender of rights. Mr. Corbett said the views of the memorialists were also his own. The memorial was referred to the Foreign Committee.

On motion of Mr SUMNER the Committee on Foreign Affairs was discharged from the further consideration of the message of the President relative to affairs in Japan, the appointment of Mr. Burlingame as Chinese ambassador, the act prohibiting our representatives abroad from wearing diplomatic costumes, the proposed amendment to the law regulating the Coolie trade, and resolution to inquire into the designs of foreign powers in their governmental institutions on the people of this continent.

Mr. TRUMBULL presented a memorial of the Mayor and Common Council of Chicago, that the city be allowed to enlarge its harbor, and introduced a bill to authorize the enlargement. Referred to Committee on Commerce.

Mr. ABBOTT introduced a bill to amend the act granting lands to aid the construction of a railroad and telegraph line through Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Ocean. Referred.

Mr. CONKLING introduced a bill amendatory of the act to protect rights of actual settlers upon public lands. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. MORTON introduced a bill for the relief of the president and directors of the Terre Haute and Richland Railroad Company. Referred to Postoffice Committee.

Mr. CONNESS introduced a bill to provide for a line of United Steamers between New York and Europe. Referred to Postoffice Committee.

Mr. COLE introduced a bill relative to the securities of National banks. Referred.

Mr. THAYER offered the following joint resolution as an amendment to the Constitution:

"No male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age and upwards, shall be deprived of the right to vote at any election held by the people of the United States for national, State or municipal officers, or for representatives in Congress, unless guilty of crime, of which he has been convicted by law."

The resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. McDONALD introduced a bill to complete and perfect railroad and telegraphic communication with the Pacific ocean.

Referred to Committee on Postoffice.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the copper bill.

Mr. SUMNER moved to amend by inserting sulphate of copper or blue vitriol among the articles on which the duty should be per pound. Agreed to.

Mr. SUMNER moved to amend by admitting duty free sheet copper to be used for sheeting ships, when imported in American vessels.

Opposed by Mr. CHANDLER.

Rejected 14 to 31.

Mr. WHYTE moved to amend by allowing the importation free of duty of foreign carbonates, to be used in smelting, in the proportion of one ton to two tons of native ore.

Mr. VICKERS moved to amend the amendment so as to leave such carbonates still subject to a duty of five per cent. ad valorum.

Mr. WHYTE accepted the amendment, and then his amendment, as modified, was voted down.

Mr. WHYTE offered another amendment, excepting from the provisions of the bill all copper in course of transit to this country and actually on shipboard on the 19th day of January, 1869, which was adopted—36 to 24.

Mr. WHYTE moved to fix the time for the act to go into effect for April 1st—rejected, ten against twenty two.

The bill was then passed, all the Senators present voting in the affirmative except the following: Messrs. Davis, Dixon, Ferry, Fessenden, Grimes, McCreery, Sumner, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers and Whyte.

Besides the provisions in the amendments above reported, the bill imposes on all copper imported in the form of ores three cents on each pound of fine copper contained therein; on all regulus of copper four cents on each pound of fine copper contained therein; on all old copper, fit only for re-manufacture, four cents per pound; on all copper in plates, bars, ingots pigs, and in other forms not manufactured or herein enumerated, five cents per pound.

Mr. EDMUNDS moved to take up his resolution in regard to the payment of the national dept.

Mr. CONNESS moved an Executive Session, which was done at 4:50, and soon after the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. PAINE called the attention of the House to a letter received by him from the Adjutant General of the Army, in response to a resolution calling for information as to the number of enlisted men now serving in Virginia, Texas and Mississippi, who had been citizens or residents of Southern States, or had served in the rebel army, the Adjutant General stating there are no means of procuring the information except by individual inquiry. Under these circumstances Mr. Paine asked that the resolution be rescinded, and it was rescinded.

Mr. ELA, from the Committee on Printing, reported a resolution for the printing of two hundred thousand copies of the report of the Special Commissioner of Revenue, with an appendix, for the use of the House, and one hundred thousand bound copies for the Treasury Department.

Mr. KELLY addressed the House in opposition to the resolution. He did not think that the report should receive such endorsement. He did not see how the American Congress could send such a report broadcast over the country. It was a report full of figures, and so marshalled as to lead to conclusions false, delusive and damaging to the country, and damaging especially to that Congress which had carried the country through the great struggle through which it had just gone. He did not mean to say the figures were in themselves false, but that they were so detached from their correlatives as to lead to conclusions utterly at variance with facts familiar to all. The gentleman who had furnished the figures and made the calculations had done his duty fairly, but the Commissioner who had selected his materials and marshalled them had done so, not with a view of leading Congress and the country to establish an opinion, but to advocate a favorite theory of his own, which is at variance with the true interests of the country.

Mr. GARFIELD, in reply, said it seemed to him that the gentleman had given away his case, when he started out with admitting the general correctness of the figures. What was the fault that the gentleman found with the Commissioner's report? Matter was contained in a single paragraph on page fifteen, stating that the cost of living, food, clothing and shelter of families in this country was seventy-eight per cent. higher than it was the year before the war, while the wages of unskilled labor had increased only fifty per cent. and of skilled labor sixty per cent. Was Congress to refuse to print that fact, because it might not square with its theories?

Mr. JENCKES favored the resolution and availed himself of the opportunity of showing the necessity of the passage of the Civil Service bill.

Mr. BUTLER, Mass., said while there were some of the conclusions in the Commissioner's report to which he did not agree, still the fairness, correctness and reliability of the statistics were such as to command attention. As to the Civil Service bill, he could not believe it the panacea for all the evils which it aimed to correct.

Mr. MOORHEAD said he certainly would not oppose the printing of the usual number, but he would oppose the printing of any extra ones.

Mr. ELA said the resolution was to print the usual number of copies. There was a great demand for the report. It certainly contained most valuable information. If the tables were not arranged to suit members, they might arrange for themselves.

A vote was taken and the resolution adopted.

The House then resumed the consideration of the bill reported by Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, from the Committee on Territories, to preserve a purity of elections in the several organized Territories.

Delegates CAVANAUGH, BURLEIGH, CHILLICOTT and BASHFORD argued in opposition to the bill as being unnecessary and uncalled for.

Mr. ASHLEY, Ohio, advocated and defended it.

Mr. PHELPS offered an amendment providing for representation of minorities, and argued in defence of the proposition.

The amendment was rejected—48 to 116.

The bill passed—61 to 56.

It provides for the appointment of four canvassers in each county, two from each political party, and makes detailed provisions for the conducting of elections.

The House then proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table and disposed thereof as follows:

South[illegible]

[redacted]

The Se[illegible] bill, amen[illegible] 17, 1861, to p[illegible] evidence in [illegible] non-concurred [illegible] ference asked.

The Senate bi[illegible] of way to the Den[illegible] Telegraph Compa[illegible]

Mr. PRICE, fro[illegible] Committee, offered an amendment to the bill in the shape of a new section, that no subsidy in bonds be issued for a greater length of road than fifty-four miles from the previously completed terminus of the road, and nothing in it shall be construed to authorize the Eastern Division Company to operate or fix the rates of tariff for the Denver Pacific Railroad and Telegraph Company.

Mr. MAYNARD inquired whether the bill could be considered after the resolution passed yesterday, on motion of Mr. Holman?

The SPEAKER said that was a question for the House, not for the Speaker.

Mr. PRICE remarked the House might as well on this bill as on any other fight the battle as to subsidies in bonds and money. He presumed there was no objection to letting the matter be fully discussed.

Mr. WALKER offered an amendment in favor of making the point of junction the Cheyenne wells.

Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, offered an amendment providing that lands granted should be sold only to actual settlers in quantities not exceeding one quarter and at not less $2.50 an acre.

Mr. JULIAN offered an amendment to the same effect.

Mr. LOGAN offered an amendment providing that lands granted shall be subject to entry at the Government Landoffice at $2,50 per acre, the money to be deposited in the Treasury of the United States as a sinking fund for the redemption or purchase of the bonds of the company; also, that instead of the issue of bonds of the United States, the United States guarantee the interest on the bonds of the company to the amount of —— dollars per mile, and that in the event of the company's failing to pay the interest when due, the Government shall have the right to take possession of the road.

Mr. DELANO offered an amendment that no subsidy in bonds shall be issued under this act to the Union Pacific Company, Eastern Division, until the Company shall furnish evidence to the President of the United States that it will within a certain period complete its line by way of Denver, so as to form a connection with the Union Pacific Road near Cheyenne by the shortest route.

The bill and amendments were orderd to be printed.

Mr. PRICE, chairman of the Pacific Railroad Committee, said he had been instructed by the Committee to have the bill put upon its passage, but he was himself opposed to it. There was, however, one good thing connected with it. The men at Denver, who were building the road from Denver to make connection with the Union Pacific Railroad, were doing it with their money, and they asked by this bill the transfer of lands granted for that purpose to the Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, but asked no subsidy. The item for subsidy had been, he was informed, put in the bill in the Senate by those not really interested in the construction of the road. The bill came from the Senate as a double-ender. His friend, Mr. Washburne, suggested that one end be taken off; if the subsidy were taken, it would be a meritorious bill, but with it in it was exceedingly objectionable.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Ill., addressed the House in opposition. He claimed that in subsidy and privilege of issuing first mortgage bonds the Union Pacific, Eastern Division, Road, had been aided to the amount of $36,840,000, or the equivalent of $89,615 per mile, for what the highest possible actual estimated cost was $50,000 per mile, giving them a real profit of $23,845,000, and that the road was badly located and poorly built. House adjourned.

Mr. Lawrence of Ohio, voted yesterday against laying on the table the second resolution offered by Mr. Holman against land subsidies. His vote was not recorded.

The Alabama Claims Treaty Analyzed by the London Times—Favorable Comments on Napoleon's Speech—The Conference on the Eastern Question—Powers to Remain Neutral in Case Greece Refuses to Accept the Protocol—The Elections in Spain.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, January 19.—The Evening Pall Mall Gazette hopes the English Parliament will not ratify the Alabama treaty, if the question of the recognition of the Southern Confederacy as belligerents is to be re-opened.

LONDON, January 19.—The Times to-day analyzes the treaty between Great Britain and the United States for the settlement of the Alabama claims, and gives the following outlines of its provisions: The Commission is to consist of four members, two to be appointed by England and two by the United States. The Commission will hold its sessions in Washington. Its first business will be to select an umpire; failing in a choice, each side will appoint one, and when they shall be equally divided they shall select by lot one of the two umpires to render final decision. One of the sovereigns of Europe is to be selected by the Commission to adjudge the points of international law, including the question of the recognition of the Southern States as belligerents by Great Britain. Each Government is to formulate and advocate the claims of its citizens; no individual claimants will be heard. All claims must be presented within six months from the first day of the meeting, and all indemnities are to be paid within eighteen months from the same day. One year is allowed for the ratification of the treaty.

London journals this morning concur in praising the speech of Napoleon at the opening of the French Chambers, as a frank and transparent expression of his policy, and as the words of a true Frenchman addressed to Frenchmen. The Times is sorry that the fabric of the state which he has raised is based on personal government and cannot survive its maker.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Independance Belge says the Protocol adopted by the Conference of Paris begins with a preamble, stating that the representatives of the powers who signed the treaty of Paris have met to define certain points of international law more especially and precisely. The document then proceeds to declare that to encourage insurrections within or privateering and military expeditions against territories of friendly States is a violation of international law. When the Protocol has been signed by all the powers participating in the Conference it will be offered to Greece for signature. If Greece signs, the Sublime Porte will withdraw her ultimatum. If she refuses, the great powers will remain neutral and allow events to take their course.

SPAIN.

MADRID, January 19.—Returns of the elections for the Cortes show an overwhelming majority in favor of a monarchy. The Republicans have carried Seville, Barcelona, Alicante, Saragossa and some other cities. There will be about one hundred Republicans in the new Cortes.

BUFFALO, January 19.—Flour neglected. Wheat weaker and held at $1,40 for No 2 Chicago. Corn dull at 77a78c on track for new. Oats dull at 65c on track and in store. Rye nominal. Barley firm and dull at $1,95 for common, and $2,05 for choice. Highwines nominal at $1.

NASHVILLE, January 19.—The Cotton market is drooping; low middlings sell for 25¼c; good ordinary at 27c.

STEEL engraving is now almost a lost art; there is scarcely any demand for it; and the wood cuts of the day are either over-labored to an excessive degree or dashed off with ostentatious slovenliness. The artists take a delight in outraging proportion. They set two gigantic gawky figures in front of the picture; dwarf trees and houses to the size of dolls' playthings; bestow as much labor in the delineation of a lady's chignon as in depicting her face or figure; and, while leaving us in the dark as to what she is doing, saying or thinking, make us painfully conscious of the pattern of her lace collar or the cut of her balmoral boots.

A FEW days ago the daughter of a Mr. Tate, residing at Fort Edward, New York, died in that village, and the body, prepared for burial, was placed on the Rensselaer and Saratoga cars to be conveyed to Waterford for interment. Instead of placing the coffin containing it in the baggage car, it was deposited on the front platform of the car, next to the engine. During the trip down from Saratoga, a spark from the locomotive lodged upon the pine box inclosing the coffin, and the wind created by the passage of the cars soon fanned it into a flame, nearly destroying the box and coffin.

Fattening Poultry in France.

The following description is given of the method adopted in France for fattening poultry on an extended scale: A large circular building, thoroughly ventilated, and with the light partially excluded, is constructed and fitted up with cages placed on tiers of circular shelves revolving on a common central axis. The apparatus is so arranged as to be readily raised, depressed or rotated, and the cages are so divided as to give each bird a separate stall, containing a perch. The birds are placed with their tails converging in a common centre, while the head of each may be brought in front by a simple rotatory movement of the shelf on the central axis. Each bird is fastened to its cell by leathern fetters, which prevent movement except of the head and wings, without occasioning pain. When the feeding time comes, the bird is enveloped in a wooden case, permitting only the head and neck to appear, and which is popularly known as the paletot or overcoat; by this means all unnecessary struggling is avoided. The attendant (a young girl) seizes the head in the left hand, and gently presses the beak, in order to open it; then, with her right, she introduces into the gullet a tin tube about the size of a finger. This tube is united to a flexible pipe communicating with the dish of food, and from which the desired quantity is instantaneously injected into the stomach. The feeding process, it is stated, is so short that two hundred birds can be fed by one person in an hour. The food is a liquid paste composed of Indian and barley meal boiled in milk. It is administered three times a day, in quantities varying according to the condition of each bird.

Grant's Old Schoolmate.

[From the New York Herald.]

Mr. Wadsworth, of Kentucky—who, it will be remembered, was on one occasion introduced to a public audience by General Grant, as "his (Grant's) old schoolmate, who could talk to them better than himself"—has favored the editor of the Paris Kentuckian with his opinions of the General's views and policy. It seems to be the "old schoolmate's" idea that Grant is more of a Radical than the Radicals themselves give him credit for, and that if Kentucky wishes to receive favors at his hands they must adopt the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, or some similar article allowing universal suffrage. Mr. Wadsworth believes that the reconstruction policy of Congress will be carried out rigorously by Grant, and modestly intimates that for himself he thought he should be offered the position of Postmaster General in the new administration, but he prefers that of Attorney General. However that may be, he is certainly one of the most intimate friends of the President elect, who stopped at his house in Maysville, Kentucky, last summer, and who had otherwise shown a warm attachment for him. The "old Kentucky schoolmate" may, therefore, have an important share of the confidence of General Grant, and his opinions are entitled to consideration, if merely as straws indicating the way the wind of the incoming administration is setting.

Oil—Facts from Pleasantville.

A letter to the Titusville Herald says: Oil is found here in the belt which runs diagonally across streets, farms, tracks, by the town hills and valleys, and across the compass, north-east and south-west. It is from one-half to three-quarters of a mile wide and three or four miles long. A very great mistake has been committed by putting the wells so close together, thereby exhausting the oil, and in some instances even before the wells have paid for themselves. Well owners are realizing this fact and will avoid its recurrence to some extent. Wells that last spring were pumping one hundred and fifty or two hundred barrels per day are now producing from ten to fifteen barrels. It pays to pump five barrels a day where the royalty is one-quarter of the production, and the well furnishes gas enough for fuel. New wells are being struck along the frontier or in advance of well tested territory. The experiment of striking new wells in new localities is resolved into matter of fact, if the line of direction of the belt, as indicated by the development of the past few month, is followed.

Installation of Kenyon College.

The newly elected President of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, is to be inaugurated at Gambier, on Tuesday morning, January 19th. Arrangements have been made by the hospitable people on Gambier Hill to welcome the friends of Kenyon. It is hoped there will be a large gathering of the Alumni on that occasion, and that new interest will be awakened in the College of which the State should feel proud.

Prof. Tappan, who has been called to the Presidency of the College, is a scholar of rare natural endowments and of great culture, while an extended experience as a very successful educator give the best possible assurance that his administration of College affairs will be such as to gratify the most generous friends of the institution.—Cleveland Herald.

Railways opened at about last evening's prices and steadily advanced on more active stocks until the first regular board, when prices culminated and subsequently declined. The features were New York Central, Old Southern, Fort Wayne and Pittsburgh. New York Central touched 166¾, Old Southern 93½, and Fort Wayne 124½. Report says that the Erie combination is trying to get possession of this road. The decline was checked at the second board, and there was a general recovery. Though the evening market was active and buoyant, the highest quotations of the day were not sustained. At the close the market was unsettled, although express shares were active and strong, stimulated by Mr. Fargo's card. The Adams was higher, on reports of an early dividend. Rumors were also current that the Erie party were buying the control of the Company, and that the present management were also buying to retain the control, and that the Company could not issue any more stock and were buying $3,000,000 to satisfy the American Company, which is to return to the Adams the various lines surrendered in the forming of the late combination.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with seven and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. Weather continues cold and decidedly winterish with frequent attempts to snow. Thermometer stood at 32 during most of the day.

Business was a little more active at the landing yesterday, the shipments being more liberal, but there is still plenty of room for improvement.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the new Northern Line Packet Minneapolis, also, on the Carrie V. Kountz, Mollie Ebbert and Silver Bow. The Mollie Ebbert will follow the Messenger to New Orleans.

The Armadillo, Captain D. H. Swaney, will leave for Cincinnati and Louisville to-day at noon without fail, and passengers and shippers can rely on this. Captain Ben. Laughlin still has charge of the office.

Squire Henry Laughlin, of Georgetown, was in the city yesterday attending to some private business, and looking after his numerous friends. He looks remarkably well, and is still addicted to spinning funny yarns.

The Camelia, Captain Thomas Poe, is filling up slowly, and will take her departure for Nashville on Saturday.

The Bayard arrived and departed for Parkersburg.

The Grey Eagle, Captain C. L. Brennan, is the regular packet for Parkersburg today, leaving at noon.

The Glasgow, Captain Andy Robinson, Jr., is up for Cincinnati and Louisville forthwith.

The Maggie Hays, Captain B. C. Martin, Mr. Jas. F. Dravo, clerk, is announced to leave for St. Louis this evening.

The Messenger, Captain Jesse Dean, Mr. Jas. Russell, clerk, is advertised to leave for New Orleans this evening.

—New Orleans papers are again agitating the ship Island Canal question.

—Captain John Cannon is negotiating for the purchase of the Frank Pargoud.

—The Mary Davage and Armenia, arrived at New Orleans on Saturday, and the Wauanita left there the same day for Pittsburgh.

—The Leonidas left Cincinnati for New Orleans on Saturday with a good trip. She received considerable freight at Cincinnati. Pilots—Theodore Tatman and Benj. Frazer.

—Captain Lewis Vandergrift, formerly of the Argosy, has purchased a wharfboat at Mt. Vernon Indiana, and gone into the forwarding and commission, and general steamboat agency business.

—The Evansville Journal says: Capt. Ed. Montgomery was at the wheel, and Capt. Dryden pointed the way when the Dexter came over the Falls. She rubbed on the rocks, but received no damage whatever. She is sound as a dollar.

—The Treasury Department has commenced the system of numbering barges and flats under the same conditions as a steamboats. Numbers have been assigned, and the sooner they are affixed, attached or carved, the better it will be probably.

—John Charlton, accused of the murder of a negro on board the G. A. Thompson, at Parkersburg, on the 3d inst., had a hearing Wednesday, before Justice Tygart. Bail was tendered, but refused, and the prisoner was remanded. Judge Loomis will be applied to release Charlton on bail.

—A decision was rendered in the United States District Court, at St. Louis, Saturday, in the case of a suit brought by Hiram Hazlet against Peter Conrad, for the recovery of damages arising out of a collision of the steamers Katy and Des Moines, on the Ohio river. The Court decided that each boat should bear half the loss, and a judgment for $1,036,50 was rendered against Conrad. He gave notice of an appeal to the Circuit Court, and was required to give a bond of $12,000.

—The new steamer John Lumsden, Captain O. W. Davis, en route from Nashville to Cincinnati, with a full cargo of cotton, pea nuts, lumber, cattle, &c., picked up a snag, or floating tree, at three o'clock Saturday morning, a few miles above Uniontown, in the Ohio river. It struck her on the bow, glancing to the larboard, tearing off her guards from the stem for fifteen feet, and tore up the main deck floor back to her capstan. It also tore off the front railing of her boiler deck and ran up through the hurricane roof, tearing away a portion of the same, and knocking both chimneys overboard. No damage was done to the hull or freight, and no person injured.

—The Cincinnati Commercial, says: The Senate Committee on Commerce have resumed consideration of the bill for the improvement of rivers and harbors. For the sake of a material interest of the country, we are glad of it; and can only hope that the bill will pass. Other interests of the country—railroads, telegraphs, submarine cables, &c., are being built and strengthened at the expense of the General Government, and why river navigation, more immediately connected with the welfare of the people than any of them, should not be included, we are unable to conceive. There are gentlemen on the committee who are well informed on the subject, and are giving their earnest attention to it, and it may be expected that favorable action will be had.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be, and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out of the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. K. says that he has known the most distressing an harassing coughs, whose vibrations would threaten to shake the whole constitution to pieces, removed in the course of a few days In long standing cases of consumption, or of other sometimes fatal, but always troublesome and annoying maladies, known as catarrh, chronic bronchitis, trachitis or pharyngitis, it is a wonderful alleviating medicine in the former and a sure cure in the latter disease.

DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE IS ENRICHED BY SOME OF THE MOST VALUABLE PLANTS AND HERBS KNOWN TO BE USEFUL AND CURATIVE IN ALL DETERIORATED STATES OF THE HUMAN BLOOD, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, hopelessly incurable and so most surely fatal.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 135¼.

A CONVENTION of delegates, representing a number of companies interested in ROBBINS' process for preserving wood, was held a few days ago in New York, of which, we observe by our exchanges, Mr. W. E. C. MACRUM, of this city, was Secretary. From a lengthy report of the proceedings published in the New York World, we learn that the process finds favor with some of the most eminent chemists of the country and that its universal adoption is no improbable event.

THE PRESIDENT justifies his latest Amnesty Proclamation upon the constitutional rights of the Executive, and insists that the act was "in strict accordance with judicial expositions and in conformity to precedents established by WASHINGTON in '95, and by other Presidents since." The precedent of '95 has always been quoted, relied upon and conformed to by Mr. JOHNSON'S predecessors. That precedent, by its terms, expressly excluded from amnesty every person "who standeth indicted or convicted of any treason, misprision of treason or other offenses against the United States." The present Executive is the first to claim the prerogative of pardoning such offenders after indictment found and before conviction. So much for his precedent! His constitutional law is not regarded as of any greater validity.

YESTERDAY was a Senatorial day in a number of States. The following list embraces all the election results received:

Pennsylvania	JOHN SCOTT, R.
New York	R. E. FENTON, R.
Delaware	THOMAS BAYARD, D.
New Jersey	J. STOCKTON, D.
Massachusetts	CHARLES SUMNER.
Indiana	WILL CUMBACK, R.
Minnesota	ALEX. RAMSEY, R.
Michigan	Z. CHANDLER.
Maine	HANNIBAL HAMLIN.
Missouri	CARL SCHURZ.

We have no information from Nebraska, but it is highly probable that Senator TIPTON has been re-elected. Florida postponed the election. In Delaware Jas. A. BAYARD was elected to serve the short term, which expires on the 4th of the coming March, or to fill the complete unexpired term of the late GEO. R. RIDDLE, to which vacancy he was appointed in April, 1867. THOS. BAYARD, his son, was elected his successor to fill the full term of six years.

THE new Spanish Cortes will be monarchical by a decisively large majority, the Republicans having only about one hundred members, or less than a third of the entire body. This result verifies all the well-informed anticipations which for months past have held steadily to the conviction that Spain is not now, nor for another generation likely to be, ripe for a Republican government. But this advanced sentiment will be felt in the Constituent Assembly, and will largely contribute to shape the new polity of the kingdom in accordance with Democratic ideas. A constitutional throne, with a dynasty expressly relying on the popular sentiment for its perpetuation, and always merely the Executive of the National will, Spain will find, perhaps, in Prussia its nearest examplar upon the European continent. A limited monarchy upon that model will be a vast improvement upon the old Bourbon disgrace.

PACIFIC RAILWAY matters are assuming another shape. The Union Pacific gives the Government security, to the amount of $3,000,000 in bonds and all its grant of lands, for the faithful completion of its work according to contract. The North and South Pacific roads no longer ask for subsidy-aid or even for land-grants; they are now applicants only for the Treasury guarantee of six per cent. interest upon a limited amount of their bonds. The Eastern Division has joined forces with the Central Pacific, and a combined effort is to be made to induce Congress to aid the latter in an extension, eastward from its junction with the Union, to the 100th meridian, where the Eastern Division now rests. This is regarded as a movement to flank the U. P., and is said to be engineered by the Pennsylvania Central road, which, says a Western telegram, "now controls the Eastern Division road, and seeks supremacy in a through line from Philadelphia to San Francisco without being required to diverge to Chicago or being forced to combine with the New York Central for the control of the Omaha line."

SENATORIAL.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania yesterday elected Hon. JOHN SCOTT, United States Senator for six years from next March, vice BUCKALEW, retired. The opposition vote was cast at Harrisburg for Mr. WALLACE, of Clearfield, notwithstanding the compliment was earnestly desired for Mr. BUCKALEW, whose friends insisted that it was due to him. It was certainly very shabby in the opposition thus to disregard a duty of simple justice to a gentleman who, apart from his politics, has maintained a more than respectable position in the Senate and in the public regard.

DAY-DAWN.

The decisive vote of 90 to 67, by which the House has put a final quietus, for this session, upon the policy of subsidizing railway and other corporations from the National treasury, will afford the greatest satisfaction to the country. There is but little danger that the policy thus condemned will be revived in the ensuing Congress. Nor, fortunately, is there any just reason for apprehension that the present House will "go back" upon its own vote. The "grab" game, which, in the aggregate, proposed to deplete the treasury in the enormous sum of two hundred millions of dollars, is played out. The railway, steamship, ship-canal and the other rings, which have filled the purlieus of the Capitol with a swarm of insatiable plunderers, have thrown up their cards in disgust, and fled from the scene of their discomfiture. It remains only for Congress to complete its good work by flattening out the rest of these corrupt combinations—items, the Postoffice, Indian Department and whisky-thieves—to entitle itself to the unmeasured gratitude of the country.

The yeas and nays, on this important vote, seem to be entirely irrespective of political opinions. The opposition members were very fairly divided, while of our own friends we find among the yeas such as BINGHAM, BOUTWELL, DELANO, the two LAWRENCES, SCOFIELD, SHELLABARGER, and SPALDING, and we regret to see such influential members as GARFIELD, KELLEY and SCHENCK on the other side.

We have to thank a Democratic member, Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, for moving the resolution which brought the members inexorably to book. We are not disposed to impeach the sincerity of a public virtue which is less likely to be demonstrative in a political majority than in the minority with which he usually acts. Let us say nothing of the tactics of the politician and gratefully acknowledge that the record, at least for this time, proves him a faithful representative. And we forbear any minute analysis of the vote, observing only this, that in the fact of sixty-seven members thus consenting to go to the country upon the record as opposed to a frank declaration of the public policy against the imposition of additional burthens upon the treasury, we find a very significant proof that the treasury had been up to that moment in very serious peril, from the powerful combinations formed and daily gathering strength against it. This vote satisfies us that the country had not taken the alarm an hour too soon. We believe that in the absence of this timely and decisive declaration, more than one of the pending subsidy-schemes, involving no one can tell how many millions of dollars, would have been rushed through without the yeas and nays, in the customary confusion of the session's last hours. That dodge too, which of late has been the reserved trump-card of the lobby, is now pretty effectually blocked. But it will still bear watching, and with vigilance it is now sure of a renewed defeat.

Let us not hope for too much. If the present House cannot reach the large and well disciplined army of revenue robbers, in and out of office, let it do the country a further service by exposing the truth or falsity of the public belief that large frauds are covered up in the management of the Postoffice. Suppose that this would hurt the feelings of a few members personally interested—let these be comforted by pockets already well lined through complicity with the Executive officials. Or, walk into the Indian bureau, where there is still time enough to rout a time honored organization for profitable plunder which has already lived through five administrations. As for the internal revenue of which the treasury is robbed, by the million or two per week, we look for no possible improvement until reform shall be inaugurated at the other end of the avenue. And that is only six weeks off. Then, the country may depend upon one thing, and that is that if every dollar of the lawful revenues of the Treasury be not honestly and faithfully collected, President GRANT and the people will soon know the reason why. On that basis his cabinet and the subordinate bureaux are to be filled, and upon that line the administration fights for the four years to come.

THE NEW FINANCIAL SCHEME.

The new Funding-bill, reported to the Senate on Monday, provides, 1st, to legalize contracts made specially payable in coin; 2nd, substituting for the existing pledge, of all the duties levied upon imported goods, for the payment of the interest and principal of the public debt, the fixed sum of $140,000,000 only for that application; 3rd, permitting the funding of the legal-tender notes into new 10-40 five per cent. bonds, interest and principal payable in coin, to be exempt from State or municipal taxation, and the income therefrom to be liable to no tax beyond such as may be assessed on other incomes; 4th, authorizing the issue of gold notes, from the Treasury, without interest, payable on demand, receivable for all public dues, and which, at the discretion of the Treasury and in amounts not exceeding the amounts of legal-tender notes converted under the 3rd section, may be applied to the purchase of outstanding six-per-cent. bonds; 5th, authorizing the National Banks also to issue gold-notes, to the extent of sixty-five per cent. of bonds deposited in the Treasury expressly for the security of the same.

Such was substantially the bill as reported from the Finance Committee by its chairman. Amendments were at the same time submitted by other members, embodying only some additional precautions against an unduly rapid contraction of the legal-tender currency. It is to be presumed, therefore, that the bill, with these slight modifications, covers the consenting judgment of a majority of the Committee, and, as such, is presented to the country as a measure entitled to its serious consideration.

The public assent will undoubtedly sustain Congress in declaring the validity of contracts specifically payable in coin. That proposition has been heretofore very fully discussed, and public opinion preponderates strongly in its favor.

Existing legislation pledges the entire receipts from customs for the security of the bondholders, that is to say, in effect, for the payment of the interest, both being in coin. The sum now indicated, $140,000,000, giving a broad margin, some ten or twelve millions, over the actual needs of the Treasury for that purpose, the bill wisely proposes to release the excess of duties, estimated for the current year at $20,000,000, or a total of $160,000,000, from its idle and useless imprisonment in the Treasury vaults, and make its application valuable for the purposes both of circulation and to redeem the public debt.

The opinion is very general, and probably it is well-founded, that the rate of interest on a new loan, negotiated for any purpose, may be reduced if coupled with such express pledges, as to the coin-redemption of both principal and interest, as should preclude the objections made in some quarters to the present issues of bonds. The bill adopts this view in the proposed funding of the legal-tenders. It will strike the public mind that none of the provisions of the bill have any relation to a change of form of the existing securities. Not touching that question at all, it is only the absorption of the legal-tender currency which is proposed. One amendment is to limit this absorption to two millions per month, while another provides for a re-conversion into legal-tenders when desired by the holder; the first may be adopted, and the second is not likely to be approved.

The next section would utilize the surplus of coin in the Treasury, as the basis of a new specie-paying circulation. To this, there could be little objection. But, as a further step in the same direction as indicated by the legalization of specific coin-contracts, its adoption would afford a still more complete illustration of the possible incompatibilities between the two co-existing standards of value—coin and paper, actual and fictitious, one at par and the other more or less depreciated. When the bill also opens the door yet wider, and admits the National banks to the duplex privilege of adding to their issues of depreciated paper, the further special issue of coin-notes, old-fashioned people will begin to think that Congress is giving us a little too much of a good thing.

While the general scope of this bill is such as to merit, and probably to receive, the public approval, it is not difficult to see that Congress will hesitate to approve the measure as a whole. This has the merit of being the simplest, and decidedly the most practicable, proposition yet submitted as a step toward the restoration of sound National finances. Amendments can divest it of its objectionable features without impairing its real efficiency for good. We have only to regret the possibility that its introduction at this late hour of the session should occasion a reasonable doubt as to the certainty of its becoming a law.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The subjoined extract, from an address lately delivered by Dr. THOMPSON, of New York, presents, perhaps, the strongest possible view of this question, to be taken from the objector's stand-point. Even the sex will theoretically admit that both sides should be heard. Says the Doctor:

Even if the ballot could raise woman politically, the nation cannot afford so to degrade its men by divesting them of the sentiments of delicacy, of honor, of loyalty—in a word, of chivalry, and arraying the sexes in the contest of numbers. Woman cannot hope to act for herself in public life and still receive the honorable consideration now accorded to the delicacy of her sex. She must choose between the two; and if she shall elect the latter, she will inevitably find that in what direction soever she forces herself outside the sphere of delicate and chivalrous regard into the contention of labors and of numbers, she is taking a step toward her own degradation. If she can brave the opprobrium, society cannot risk the consequences.

It is assumed that woman will bring to the polls a soothing element and improve the moral results of elections. On the contrary, her greater intensity of feeling for persons would bring a keener acrimony into our political campaigns. We cannot forget how the women of the South incited the rebellion and inflamed its hatred and atrocity; nor that woman produced the worst monstrosities of the French revolution; nor can we shut our eyes to the fact that in great cities the servile classes of the sex would roll up the majorities of the demagogues, and that Washington would have its Maintenons and Pompadours to add their intrigues to its political corruptions. The history of church elections in which Abbesses had a voice, is a warning here. But the calamity to be shunned is that men, ceasing to respect and honor women in their prerogative of influence, shall fear or court them as an element of numerical power!—for when the spirit of chivalry with its generous loyalty to sex is gone, the glory of the Republic will be extinguished forever.

THE new Governor of Maryland enters upon office with the respect of all parties among his fellow-citizens. In this, he is a vast improvement upon the retiring Governor, SWANN. The Baltimore American says:

"Governor Bowie is not one of that class of political fossils who have become the representative men of the Democratic party of Maryland, but an active, energetic, progressive man, who will be wide awake to the varied interests of the State. Although decided in his political views, he has never allowed difference of sentiment to interfere with social or friendly relations, and if we had been allowed to select a candidate for the Democracy, our choice would not have differed from that of the Nominating Convention."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

The marked preference of the Republicans of New York, in assigning to Gov. FENTON the Senatorial seat of Mr. MORGAN after March next, conveys to all concerned, in other States as well as theirs, a significant indication of that radically Republican sentiment which pervades the party everywhere. To make still clearer this sentiment, and as showing exactly what it means, we copy from the New York Tribune an explanation for Governor MORGAN'S defeat, which we affectionately commend to the sober reflections of such "Johnsonized Federal office-holders" as may read this paragraph. Says the Tribune:

"It is due to Governor Morgan that the true reason should be given. He stands identified in the general estimation with our Johnsonized Federal office-holders, whose pecuniary and political affiliation with the Copperhead Democracy, during the dark hours of '66 and '67, is bitterly remembered. That one of the best subsidized of these renegades is now seeking translation from the Collectorship of this port into the character of Envoy Extraordinary [very] to the Emperor of All the Russias, intensified the feeling of hostility to the entire crowd, and to any one whom they were known to favor. Nobody imagined that they would all be kept in place under General Grant; but the apprehension that some of them might be, and that Governor Morgan, from by-gone associations, would be inclined to regard them with favor, turned the scale against his re-election."

AS MARCH draws on, gossip about the new Cabinet engrosses attention among politicians and journalists. A dispatch to a New York paper speaks of one section in the expanding brigade of aspirants as follows:

So the Pennsylvania list is too long. Mr. Cameron is not an aspirant, being better satisfied where he is; but his son, J. D. Cameron, the able and wealthy President of the Northern Central, might possibly be found arraying much influence. Schofield has been mentioned, and he is held on all hands clear-headed, able, and available if wanted. Wm. D. Kelley might be prevailed upon to accept the Navy, though he says he seeks nothing. More prominent than any of these is, of course, Gov. Curtin, whose friends name him in connection with the Interior. Brewster for Attorney General and Forney for Postmaster General are also among the speculations.

A Valuable Public Document.

The report of Hon. Joseph S. Wilson, Commissioner of the General Land Office, for 1868, now in press, and soon to be distributed among the members of Congress, is undoubtedly the most important of the many valuable contributions of this faithful public servant. His statistics when published will excite amazing interest among all classes—not simply statesmen but practical business men, projectors, capitalists, manufacturers, mechanics, laborers, and especially those who intend to emigrate from other countries. He shows, among other things, that our immense portion of the trade of the Asiatics—notwithstanding the completion of the great oceanic canal across the Isthmus of Suez (three hundred feet wide and twenty-five feet deep) to admit vessels of the largest size, by which France and England intend to reach the Indies by avoiding the old circuitous and boisterous sea route—the completion of the Pacific Railroad, and our treaties with China, will give us almost the mastery in this magnificent competition.

His reflections upon this one point, supported by exact figures and data, are simply astounding. He shows that we have now over 30,000 miles of completed railroad, with over 20,000 in course of construction. He gives simple and short tables, showing the progress of population from the beginning of the Government; the wonderful increase of our territorial area from the same date; the growth of our commerce and manufactures; our mineral resources, and the admirable working of our public land system, the finest in the world. He proves by indubitable statistics the certainty of the immediate increase of our trade with the Pacific on the completion of the Union Pacific Railroad, which is now simply a matter of months. But we cannot give the reader even a conception of the value of this work. Nothing that has ever been published will be found more useful to editors, philosophers, statesmen, bookmakers and writers, and thinkers generally. Laboring, as this gentleman constantly does,

AT AN examination at one of our young ladies seminaries, the other day, the question was put to a class of little ones: "Who makes the laws of our government?" "Congress," was the ready reply. "How is Congress divided?" was the next question. But the little girl to whom it was put failed to answer it. "Well," said the examiner, "Miss Sallie, what do you say the division is?" Instantly, with an air of confidence as well as triumph, the answer came, "Civilized, half civilized and savage."

A LITTLE BOY named Knight, who recently entered the mission school at New London, was told by the teacher that he must be a good boy, and when he died he would go to heaven. The little fellow was well pleased by the prospect, and promised to be the best kind of a boy. The next Sunday he appeared in his place, looking sorrowful, and the teacher asked him if he had been a good boy. "Yes, sir," he replied, "I've tried to be good; but it's no use. The boys say I can't go to heaven, if I'm ever so good." "Why,do the boys say that?" asked the teacher. "They say," replied the boy, with the utmost simplicity, there'll be no night there."

—Once a Week,

"JOHN PAUL" has been to see the woman on the flying trapeze, in New York, and thus he reports: "She was quite a pretty woman, neatly and simply dressed in a girdle made of a stripe or two from a small American flag, circling her waist. I never felt so proud of my country's flag before. I had seen it waving over thriving cities, happy villages and majestic mountain heights, but this was the first time that I had ever seen it generously protecting the waste places. I shan't attempt to describe what that plucky little woman did on the trapeze, the rings, and the incidental ropes. She accomplished feats that made my hair run cold and every drop of blood in my veins stand on end. She swung head downward by one foot from the trapeze bar, holding her husband by one ear with the tips of her thumb and forefinger, and in that position turned ten somersaults over the bar, swinging her husband over her head each time. This feat she afterward repeated, varying it slightly by holding her husband in her teeth, and Messrs. Jarrett and Palmer by the hair—one in each hand. Then she supported herself by twisting her back hair round the bar, fastening it with a single hair-pin, and afterward fearlessly ate a mince pie—which the programme assured us was bought in Fulton market—while a shudder of horror ran through the audience."

The National Debts.

The national debts of the principal European States during the last thirty years have been the subject of interesting statistics recently published by a German paper. In 1829, it is asserted, that the public debts of France, Austria, Russia and Italy amounted to $1,000,000,000, paying about $85,000,000 a year as interest. In 1863, the debts of the same States had risen to $6,000,000,000, paying about $300,000,000 a year as interest In Great Britain, on January 5, 1851, the national debt was about $4,035,000,000, and on March 31, 1868, was $3,985,000,000, a reduction of $50,000,000. In Holland, the debt in 1851 was $491,807,432, and in 1868 was $387,297,565, a reduction of $104,599,867. In Prussia, the debt in 1851 was $148,324,618, and in 1868, was 312,846,567, including $131,760,000 for railways. Prussia has, therefore, increased her debt by the amount of $164,521,949. In France, the debt in 1851 was $1,069,200,090, and in 1868 was $2,328,707,418, besides a floating debt of $2,682,000,040. In Italy, the total debt of the smaller States now forming the dominions of Victor Emanuel was $300,000,000, and on December 21, 1867, the debt of the present Kingdom of Italy was $1,355,081,682. The debt of Austria, in 1850 was $511,600,000, and in 1867 was $1,512,668,948. In Russia, the interest on the public debt in 1850 amounted to $21,372,485, and in 1868 to $52,213,907. The principal of the Russian debt is of a highly complicated character, so that a classification is almost impossible. There are also Bills of Credit issued by the government, amounting to $596,719,900, which are forced into circulation by an imperial ukase. The destruction of public credit by an unlimited issue of paper money is of long standing in Russia, and the present government has been endeavoring to remedy the financial embarrassment of the country by a steady withdrawal of the treasury notes.

A MARINE curiosity just presented to the Connecticut Historical Society, is the work of a shell fish from the Phillipine Islands. IN the north part of Saratoga county, town of Greenfield, N. Y., recently, there was a trio of weddings in one house, at the same time, on which occasion an old lady and her two daughters were led to the altar. The mother was a widow; the first daughter was a widow of two months, and her husband a widower of four months; the other was a girl of seventeen; and the espoused a man of about thirty years, who had recently obtained a divorce from a former wife. The minister was considerably confused to know when he had finished, and it was understood that he was to be paid at wholesale price, and receive the equivalent in fire wood.

THE oldest tree on record in Europe is said to be the Cypress of Somma, in Lombardy, Italy. This tree is believed to have been in existence at the time of Julius Cæsar, 42 years before Christ, and is therefore, 1901 years old. It is 106 feet in height and 10 feet in circumference at one foot from the ground. Napoleon, when laying down his plan for the great road over the Simplon divorged from a straight line to avoid injuring this tree. Superior antiquity is claimed for the immense tree in Calaveras county. This is supposed, from the number of concentric circles in the trunk, to be 2565 years old.

"A LITTLE BILIOUS."

How often this is the response to the enquiry after a friend's health; as if to be bilious was a trifling matter, hardly worth thinking about. But let it be remembered that, as "tall oaks from little acorns grow," so formidable diseases arise from being "a little bilious."

Severe bilious attacks are more common in Spring, Summer and Autumn than in Winter, but the serious disorders of the liver which so often occur at those seasons, might be traced, in hundreds of instances, to Winter indulgences and their neglected consequences. More highly-seasoned food is eaten, more fiery drinks imbibed, in cold than in warm weather, and thus the biliousness is produced which, under a warmer temperature, culminates in remittent and intermittent fevers.

The very best medicine for persons who are either a little or a good deal bilious, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. No blue-pill or calomel is required in such cases. Those powerful mineral medicines cut two ways like a double-edged sword. They say, it is true, upon the liver, but reach most deleteriously on other parts of the system. They "stick" there, and cannot be got rid of. The Bitters contain vegetable agents of an anti-bilious tendency, that produce a specific and most genial effect upon the biliary organ, without entailing any evil consequences whatever. They are altogether upon some, and act favorably and simultaneously upon the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the nervous system, and the brain.

THE SOUND OF THE LUNGS.

One of the most accurate ways of determining whether the lungs are in a healthy or diseased condition, is by means of listening to the respiration. To those experienced in this practice it becomes as plain an index to the state of the lungs, and is as well known to the operator as are the voices of his most intimate acquaintances. The belief that long standing coughs, and diseases of the lungs upon which they are dependent, are incurable, are fast becoming obsolete. One great advantage to be gained from this advance in medical knowledge is the earlier application of those who become afflicted with those diseases to some one competent to afford relief. The error which had taken hold of the public mind in regard to the curability of consumption, or rather non-curability, is fast becoming obliterated, and it is well that it should be so, not that persons should lose that salutary fear which would make them apply for a timely remedy, but that all might be induced to use remedies while there is any hope. It is the delay in these cases that fills us with apprehension and alarm, for if every one would make timely application of DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE in the beginning of a cold or cough, few cases would go so far as to become irremediable.

Sold at the Doctor's great Medicine Store, No. 140 Wood street. WILL SHORTLY REMOVE TO HIS NEW STORE, NO. 16 LIBERTY STREET, SECOND DOOR FROM ST. CLAIR.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 19, 1869.

The market has again taken another turn upward, and, as always is the case, when there is a reaction either way, there was considerable excitement manifested, plenty of buyers and but very few sellers. Antwerp has advanced to 57½@58, but for some time past Antwerp has not been regarded as much of a criterion; indeed, that market now seems to be influenced by our own instead of our markets being controlled by it. The Boston Bulletin, regarded as a very reliable commercial journal, reports the stock of oil in the world on the first of January a million of barrels short compared with the year preceding! It is but proper to remark, however, that this is a disputed point, and one, which, in the absence of full and accurate statistics, it is very difficult to determine. It is generally, conceded, we think, that the stocks beth in this country and Europe will fall short of what they were one year ago, and that the consumptive demand has been and is still steadily increasing, but as to whether there is a deficienc of a million of barrels, it is difficult to determine. The point is a very important one, as on this, to some extent, hinges the future of the market, and it is to be regretted, as we remarked some time since, that statistics in regard to the oil business are not more reliable and satisfactory.

CRUDE.

The Crude market was firm to-day, with an improved demand, and with more buyers than sellers, prices ruled higher. We can report 1,000 bbls on spot at 15¼, which is an advance of from ¼ to a ½, compared with yesterday. Also, 3,000 bbls "put," six months from date at 14, and $150; and 1,000 bbls for Febuary at 14 and $200.

REFINED

As already intimated, was firm and somewhat excited to-day, and a pretty sharp advance, compared with yesterday, was established. Sale 500 bbls each March to June at 35; 500 each Febuary to June at 35; 1,000 each January and Febuary at 33¾; 1,000 January at 33½; 500 each April to June at 35 and 500 each same months at 35½. Offers to buy last half March at 34½; 38 for all year, buyers option; 34¼ for March and April; 33¾ for January to March; and 33 for spot.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

A Modern Infernal Machine.

An instrument of warfare has recently been invented by an American mechanic, which, it is asserted, will prove more destructive than any weapon heretofore known. The apparatus consists of a row of twelve guns of 0.76 bore and about forty inches long, mounted on a carriage six feet wide, to be hauled by one horse. The barrels are divergent, so that at three hundred yards distant the twelve bullets sweep a line of about thirty feet, and are fixed at equal distances from each other, except in the middle, where there is a space of ten inches, into which is placed a telescope, and an arrangement for adjusting the guns in taking aim. This contrivance, it is asserted, enables the operator to send a bullet through the bull's eye, at sixteen hundred yards, nine times out of ten. The tubes or barrels are loaded at the breech, and are connected by a rod attached to a crank, one turn of which opens and shuts all the breech pieces and loads the gun. They are made ready for firing by another turn of the crank. The bullet, it is stated, can be fired a distance of two thousand yards with accuracy. At a recent trial, forty-seven out of the sixty shots fired are reported to have struck a target four feet high at the distanee of fifteen hundred yards. The invention weighs five hundred pounds, and is intended to be hauled by one horse and worked by two men, one to drive and the other to operate. The loading of the apparatus is so arranged that it can be detached in a moment, when the other part of the machine becomes perfectly useless. The cost of the entire instrument, with the horse, is reported to be $1,000. The mitrailleuse, or grape shot showerer, the deadly weapon which has attracted so much attention in France from Louis Napoleon, appears to resemble the above American invention.

Washington Gossip.

What effect the recent amnesty proclamation is likely to have on the exiled rebel leaders is fully shown in a letter received by a prominent Virginian from the rebel General Early, who writes that he will soon come home, as he thinks he can do so now without a compromise of principle; that John C. Breckinridge will also return at once.

General Early says it is intention to oppose the new Constitution of Virginia and all such settlements as those proposed by Mr. Stewart.

His democratic associations are in favor of universal amnesty coupled with universal suffrage.

Another attempt will be made in the House to get a resolution through, investigating the contract with Wells, Fargo & Co. The Postoffice Ring will oppose this, and if possible, secure its defeat.

There are very unpleasant rumors afloat connected with the names of certain Republican Congressmen who have shielded the Postoffice Department from all attempts to investigate these frauds, which have caused no little talk.

THE Soldier's Messenger says: While General Sickles' gallant Excelsior Brigade was quartered in Lower Maryland, during the winter of 1861 '62, our regiment, the Second Fire Zouaves, were one day being inspected by General Sickles in person. The General had a pleasant but effective way of reprimanding those who, while on duty, committed any irregularity and especially if the offender was an officer.

On this occasion, while the General was examining silently and critically the "make up" of each man in the ranks, Captain G., a perfect stunner on music, rather unconsciously drifted into his usual train of thought, and indulged in a low whistle, which, however, was sufficiently audible to reach the acute ears of General Sickles, who stepped up to him and inquired gravely:

"Captain, what air is that?"

Captain G., with some misgiving as to what was in store for him, blushingly replied, "Come where my love lies dreaming," to the infinite amusement of everybody but one. The General gave the puckerer his quietus by saying, "Well, captain if you will wait until after the inspection we'll all go." The captain assumed the position of a soldier and kept it throughout the remainder of the inspection.

PERIQUE TOBACCO is grown in the rich soil of Louisiana, along the banks of the rivers and bayous, and it is asserted, is much superior to Havana tobacco. The green leaves are full of moisture, and are cured in a very primitive manner by being closely rolled up into cylinders, fourteen inches long by from three to four inches in diameter. Around this cylinder is placed a tough linen cloth, over which is wound a rope about the size of a clothes line in as regular order as a layer of thread upon a spool. When six years old the perique is at its prime, though few carats, as the rolls are called, are ever allowed to reach perfection. The method of use is to slice off excessively then layers across the cylinder. The tobacco will then be found soft, moist and of a pleasantly pungent odor. It is used in Louisiana almost exclusively for cigarettes, but is elsewhere employed by tobacconists to give strength and flavor to interior grades. By a late decision of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, requiring this kind of tobacco to be manufactured in boxes, as all other kinds are, it is feared that the perique, which depends for its excellency on the way it is now prepared in carots, may cease to be cultivated.

THE East river, near New York, according to the plans of an engineer of that city, is to be improved in the following way: It is asserted that the ruin of the harbor of New York, if the East river remains open, is imminent and inevitable. To save the harbor a dike is proposed, to run from the South Ferry across the shallows to Brooklyn. This dyke is to be several hundred feet wide, with ample dock room, and space for streets and warehouses. The docks on the upper side would accommodate the Sound Steamboats and Eastern commerce. Those on the lower side, the various lines of ocean steamers. From these docks and the warehouses, it is asserted, would be derived an income which, in a few years, would pay the cost of the whole work, estimated at $16,000,000. Some opposition to the project is anticipated from the Eastern States, but it is contended that the advantages to New York and the West are more than sufficient to compensate for any damages which might be done to the trade and commerce of New England.

THE EDDYSTONE LIGHTHOUSE.—Owing to the boisterous weather prevailing in the English Channel (says the London Star of December 29), the Trinity tender at Plymouth has not been able to communicate with the Eddystone Lighthouse for the past eight weeks. One of the lightkeepers has during the whole of that time been in waiting to go off to relieve the keeper whose turn it is to be ashore. Several attempts have been made by the tender to land him at the lighthouse, but without success. The tender has been able to run within hailing distance of the rock, but the terrific sea running over it has rendered nearer approach impossible. The lightkeepers board themselves, but have in store at the lighthouse a supply of government provisions provided for such an emergency as has thus been created.

CLIPPINGS.

IT is a curious fact that all the eminent modistes in Philadelphia—that is to say, all the recognized leaders of fashion in millinery, dress making, etc., are either Irish, or of Irish descent. It is a popular belief that France furnishes all the experts in producing those wonderful frivolities called "loves of bonnets" and gorgeous skirts, but Ireland is contesting that honor with the French.

THE poem which was recited in Stockholm, at the inauguration of the statue of that heroic madman, Charles the Twelfth, was written by the present King of Sweden. His daughter, the Princess Louisa, who listened to the reading of the ode with radient eyes, was the only person present on the occasion who knew that her father was the author of the poem which was so rapturously applauded.

THE Leipsig Theatre Chronicle contains the following warning: "We beseech the fair readers of the Theatre Chronicle, for their own good, to remove the so-called and much used Pomade de Lyons from their dressing cases, for the official organ of the physicians and druggists of the Kingdom of Saxony assures the public, on the best scientific authority, that the aforesaid pomatum is made of human fat, obtained from the Parisian dissecting rooms.

DU BRUNFAUT, in Paris, says the New York Tribune, recently exhibited articles made of spun glass, such as head dresses, watch chains, curled and smooth ostrrich feathers, etc. The usual objection to glass fabrics of brittleness does not apply here, as the thread is as fine as a spider's web. It is not inferior in strength to the best wool, while far exceeding it in beauty. The flexibility of the thread is such that it may be worked in the sewing machine.

FACTS seriously compromising the Department of the Interior, concerning the sale of 800,000 acres of Cherokee lands to James F. Joy, at one dollar per acre, have come to light. It appears that after the sale to the Connecticut Emigration Company was set aside, the Cherokee Agent and Delegation filed a protest with Secretary Browning against any sale at less than $1,25 per acre, at which sum they could secure purchasers. The Secretary promised to heed the protest, but subsequently sold to Joy, without advertising, or even notifying the Delegation.

THE American origin of an invention is now a recommendation in Europe, where many of these inventions are in successful operation and large fortunes have been realized by their introduction. Mr. Bessemer derives an annual income of about $2,000,000 from his British steel patents, and the patentee of a device for dressing mill-stones by a revolving diamond has realized over $1,000,000 the first year of his patent. The use of a diamond for this purpose is an American invention, and the estimated value of the exclusive right in England, for ten years, is $5,000,000.

THE proposed line of the Buffalo Southern Railroad extends from Buffalo, sixty miles, to Waterboro, a point on the Atlantic and Great Western, eight miles east of Jamestown, and from thence down the valley of the Connewongo, sixteen miles to Warren, Pennsylvania, where it connects with the Allegheny Valley Railroad, which gives direct rail connection from Buffalo to Pittsburgh. The line then continues Southeasterly to Clearfield, in Clearfield county, Pa., distant from Buffalo 160 miles. It passes near the Shawmut, Daguscohohda, and other mines of bituminous coal.

FORTY years ago Mr. Disraeli, recently Prime Minister of England, edited a morning paper in London, belonging to Mr. Murray, the publisher, and enlitled The Representative. Mr. Robert Lowe, the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the newly formed Gladstone administration, owes his seat in the House of Commons, and his position in the Cabinet, largely to the fact of his being a principal writer in The Pimes. Mr. Gladstone, the Duke of Argyle, and Mr. Goschen, all Cabinet Ministers, have written books, and so has Lord Dufferin, great-grand-son of Sheridan, author of "The School for Scandal."

THE New York Canals during 1868, yielded a gross revenue of $4,477,546. The cost of repairs and maintenance was $1,018,766, leaving a net revenue of $3,460,780. The surplus revenues of the New York public works, it is stated, are sufficient to pay the Canal debt of 1846. A new debt, however, will have to be incurred if the plan suggested by the Buffalo Board of Trade be adopted. It is contended that all the New York Canals should without delay be repaired and completed to seven feet in depth and seventy feet in width, and double locks substituted for the old bench walls.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurer as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal in ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Scott.

Information Wanted.—A resident of the Third ward, Allegheny, named Jno. Green, while laboring under a fit of mental aberration, wandered away from his home on Hemlock street, and has since not been heard from. Any information of his whereabouts left at the Allegheny Mayor's office will confer a great favor upon his friends, who are apprehensive that he has met with some accident.

The Market Committee of City Councils held a meeting last evening and organized by electing Mr. McEwen, of the Eleventh ward, chairman. After the discussion of various matters, Messrs. John Wrigly and John Moessner were elected Market Constables for the ensuing year, and Mr. Douglass continued as weighmaster. The sweepers will be appointed by the Superintendent. A resolution was passed declaring the office of Clerk of Markets as under and subordinate to the Superintendent. This, it is intended, will prevent any conflict of authority in the future, or at least until a proper ordinance is introduced in Councils defining the duties of the market officials. It was resolved that an ordinance be reported to Councils providing for the licensing and government of the small army of basket carriers who infest our market houses, some of them picking up chores and anything else they can put their hands on. It is expected that the Committee will put in a claim for an appropriation of about two thousand dollars to meet the expenses of the current year, that sum being the minimum amount judged necessary for requirements.

A Mixed Case.

A few days since Thomas Sheridan purchased a watch from Pat Finden for twenty dollars, paying him for the same and taking it away. Subsequently Sheridan became dissatified with his bargain, on account of the watch not being what it had been represented, and he returned the article to Finden, who took it back, but, it appears, did not return the twenty dollars, which had been paid to him by Sheridan. Yesterday Sherman made information before the Mayor, charging Pat with larceny. Patrick was arrested and brought before his Honor, when he stated his case, saying that he had spent the money before Sheriden returned the watch, and consequently could not refund it. He admitted the facts charged against him and proposed to compromise the case by refunding the money. Having but ten dollars, he gave that to Sheridan and gave security for the payment of the other ten, and the case was dismissed.

The Rivals Again.

It seems as if the rivalry between the Messrs. Thackeray and Trimble, bill posters, will never cease until one or the other of them be exterminated. Monday afternoon they had another encounter on St. Clair street, when Thackeray, according to allegations, attacked Trimble with a paste brush and belabored him over the head and on other parts of his body to a rather unpleasant and uncomfortable extent. Thackeray was arrested by one of Alderman Donaldson's police and gave bail for a hearing on a charge of assault and battery, preferred against him by Trimble.

Cross Suits.

Phillip Matts made information yesterday morning before Alderman Taylor, against Elizabeth Heil, for assault and battery, alleging that she kicked and struck him in an unwarranted manner. Elizabeth was arrested and after a hearing discharged. She then in turn instituted prosecutions against Matts for assault and battery and larceny. Matts was discharged after a hearing in the larceny case and held for court to answer the charge of assault and battery. The parties are residents of the "hill."

In Trouble.

Mollie Oliver has just been released from jail, where she had been serving a term for participating in the "Church alley" row, some time ago, the particulars of which our readers will recollect. She seems to be in some considerable trouble on account of the ingratitude and baseness of several of her former friends, which became manifest during her imprisonment. She called at Alderman McMaster's office yesterday and gave vent to her feelings in the following informations: First, one against David Jones for assault and battery, the offence consisting in striking her across the back with an iron bar during the row aforementioned, causing her to be almost unable to move for two weeks. She thinks this was most barbarous treatment. Secondly, she alleges that her friend Kate Raney broke open her trunk, which was at her house, during her absence in prison, and appropriated twelve dollars worth of clothing to her own use, a clear case of larceny as bailee. The third information charges her companion in jail, Alice Doran, also with larceny as bailee. In this it is alleged that Alice obtained from Mollie a waterproof suit of female wearing apparel to make her appearance in after being released, and which she promised to return promptly, but which perhaps, on the grounds that a rash promise is better broken than kept, she now indignantly refuses to return at all. The fourth and last information is made against her most particular and favorite friend, David Auday, for false pretence. David, according to the allegations, came to her in the county jail and asked permission to sell a certain stove which she owned, stating that he would with the proceeds secure her release from imprisonment. She of course granted the request, and waited after the departure of David in patient expectation of being released. She waited in vain, however. David sold the stove for nine dollars, but forgot the remainder of the agreement and made use of the proceeds in an entirely different way. His friendship in the case seemed to be of that peculiar kind, which has been described as "A shade that follows wealth or fame,

And leaves the wretch to weep."

At any rate, Mollie says she never had any of the money, and she thinks it was clearly obtained by false and fraudulent representations. After hearing the statement of her grievances in full, the sympathizing official did all in his power to calm her ruffled feelings by issuing warrants for the arrest of the accused, and dispatching his officers to carry them into effect.

Rev. A. P. Graves.

This gentleman, who has been an honored and successful Evangelist for several years, and who comes from a harvest work of rich results and wide extent in Michigan, began his labors in connection with the First Baptist church of this city, last evening. While Mr. Graves belongs to the Baptist donomination some of his successful meetings have been held with other churches. The audience last night was respectable in numbers and the sermon plain, unctous and direct. He proposes to remain some two weeks in the city. He is to speak in the chapel of the First Baptist church each afternoon this week at three o'clock and each evening at seven. We trust that great good may flow to this community from the labors and preaching of this man of God.

Amusements.

NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Leffingwell, the greatest caricaturist the age has produced, appeared last night for the second time at the Opera House, and was greeted by a very large and appreciative audience. To say that he is clever, does not half express the genius and peculiar talent of the actor; to say that he is truly magnificent, approaches the truth much closer; and yet to thus style a man so excruciatingly funny seems like the height of ridiculousness. Of graceful form, massive and yet genteel proportions, classical features, which even Booth might envy, a voice singularly capable of imitations, and wonderful powers of facial expression and contortion, Leffingwell is destined to rank pre-eminent in the dramatic line he has adopted. He appeared as the overgrown, simpering, blushing, gushing loving Clorinda, in the laugh provoking burlesque of Cinderella, and in his impersonation of that creature of passion and beauty, fashion and style, he presented just such a piece of feminine flesh in silk as many recognized familiar—quite too familiar. Mrs. Leffingwell, who accompanies her husband, played Dandini with much effect, while our charming home favorite, Mrs. Bates, sustained Prince Poppetti in a splendid manner. As Baron Balderdash, Mr. Hotto made a strike, while Mr. Grant displayed unusual animation and decidedly good acting in Buttoni. Miss Katie O'Neill and Miss Lizzie Hardy were well cast, and contributed no little to the extravagant burlesque. In the afterpiece, "Too Much for Good Nature," Leffingwell developed his eccentric style of acting in its fullest degree, and he was most admirably supported by the first-class stock company which now graces the boards of the Opera House. In these two casts the caricaturist is immense, and not to see him is equivalent to the refusal to enjoy genuine mirth and drollery. The same programme will be presented to night, and those of our readers who believe laughter is not genteel had better fail to secure seats at the box office, for if they attend they will certainly make a wide step out of the range of what they imagine constitutes propriety.

THEATRE.—The wonderful success of the Gregory Combination troupe at the old Theatre is not only an evidence of the genuine merit of their entertainments, but is proof positive that Pittsburghers appreciate talent and liberally patronize all amusements of a meritorious character. The Gregorys have played to full houses for over two weeks, and they are becoming more and more popular every day. An entire change of programme is announced for to-night.

MUSEUM.—The attractions at Burnell's Museum, on Fifth avenue, have a tendency to draw many hundreds of persons to that establishment daily, and all who have entered the Museum are perfectly delighted with the many novelties and natural curiosities they find there.

ORPHANS' FAIR.—The fair the benefit of the Orphans, now being held in the basement of the Cathedral, has so far been a complete success. The attendance has been much larger than anticipated, and the liberality of the public exceeds the more sanguine expectations of the managers.

FAIR.—A Fair, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the new Catholic Church at Manchester, was commenced in that village on Monday, and will be continued for two weeks.

MORTGAGES.

Same day eleven mortgages were filed for record

An Original Method.

A day or two since an elderly lady, of very respectable appearance but stern and determined in bearing, entered an up town Alderman's cosy sanctum and stated to the worthy official that she had a daughter, unruly and unmanageable, who persisted in receiving attentions from a suitor who was exceedingly disliked by both the parents. They had tried several methods of breaking up the intimacy between the lovers, and had finally resolved, as a last and seemingly effectual resort, to bring the young lady to the magistrate's office at any time he should name and compel her to take an oath forever to discard the unfortunate young man, who had incurred the dislike of her parents. The magistrate after hearing the story politely but firmly declined to have anything to do or say in the matter, preferring that the lady should seek elsewhere for legal assistance in a case so much beyond and outside his usual line of business. We have not heard whether she succeeded or not, but the idea certainly has the merit of freshness, and as no patent has been taken out, "stern parents" who have failed in everything else, are at liberty if they so desire to use this new and strikingly original device.

The Styles.

What a wonderful thing is fashion. A mere creature of fancy, an airy nothing created into shape, to suit the imagination, and dependent upon the fickle tastes of the world for its life. It is a wonderful thing, nevertheless, and is studied, courted and followed, as though it were something permanent. As an evidence of this fact it is only necessary to refer our readers to the popular and fashionable establishment of W. W. Moorehead, No. 81 Market street, dealer in trimmings and lace goods, where all the latest styles of goods in his line are to be found, as they will find that the styles, notwithstanding their frequent changes, are kept up with. This fact, it appears, is generally known, however, as there is always a rush at Moorhead's, because we presume he keeps the latest and best styles of goods.

The Continental.

There is no city in the United States, perhaps, where the wants of the inner man are more properly considered and cared for than in the Iron City, and we speak advisedly, when we assert that, in no part of the city is there a restaurant, or dining establishment more properly conducted than Holtzheimer's Continental Dining Rooms, Fifth avenue, one door west of the Postoffice. Everything the market and season affords may be obtained at this favorite resort, and is served in a style to defy competition. Holtzheimer is a model proprietor and is highly appreciated by the public.

A Payne-ful Proceeeding.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hewitt and family and Mrs. Ann Payne occupy in conjunction a tenement house in Kilday's court, off High street. Yesterday morning Mrs. Payne made informations before Alderman McMasters against Mrs. Hewitt and her two daughters, Emma and Mary Hewitt, charging them with keeping a disorderly house. The prosecutrix alleges that the Hewitt family entertain a great many visitors, the great majority of whom are males possessing reputations not very enviable. She further alleges that a few evenings since she heard considerable noise coming from the rooms on the second floor occupied by the Hewitt's. Upon ascending to the apartments to discover the cause of the seeming disturbance, she discovered a certain Barney O'Neil there, and was informed that the supposed row was only a friendly discussion between the inmates. Her intrusion, however, aroused the ire of O'Neil who according to her statements, knocked her down and beat her severely, winding up with a threat to take her life sometime in the near future, for the offence. In addition therefore to other informations, she made information against O'Neil for assault and battery and surety of the peace. She states that the punishment she received has caused her to feel its effects in a painful manner ever since it was inflicted. The accused were all arrested and held for a hearing.

A Wanderer.

Yesterday morning a young woman was brought before Mayor Drum for vagrancy. The police had arrested her wandering around the streets the previous evening. She stated that she had been brought to this country about two years since by her uncle, a Frederick Miller, who formerly carried on business in Diamond alley, and for whom she kept house for nine months. Her relative then got married and moved down the river somewhere, leaving her at a place in the city as servant girl. She has been living at different places since that time, the last one being with the family of Mr. E. Bechtold, liquor dealer in Pittsburgh. A few days ago, she stated, she left Mr. Bechtold for no apparent reason, and had been wandering around until her arrest. She gave her first name as Minnie, but refused to give her last name. The Mayor, after hearing her story, discharged her, but she was picked up a few hours afterward lying on the floor of the Pleasant Valley Passenger Company's waiting car, in front of the City Hall. She was again taken up in the tombs, where she still remains. At times she talked quite wildly and seemed to be laboring under attacks of mental aberration.

The Mayor is at a loss to make a disposition of her case, but will probably commit her to jail for a few days, until she is completely restored to her senses.

WEST VIRGINIA ITEMS.

Hon. E. M. Stanton is in Wheeling engaged in an important law suit.

Over $100,000 have been subscribed towards the capital stock of the Little Kanawha oil regions.

Parkersburg complains that Wheeling gets a surfeit of first-class concerts and lectures, while it gets none.

Last week 2,500 barrels of Petroleum were shipped down the Kanawha River from the Burning Spring regions.

A lad named Neely, residing near Morgantown, was recently badly injured by a kick in the face from a horse.

It is estimated that not less than $20,000 is annually lost at Burning Springs by evaporation of oil stored and awaiting a rise to carry it to market.

The Legislature will dispose shortly of a bill classing all stomach bitters as liquors, and exacting a license tax of $100 from all druggists and dealers offering them for sale.

The Constitution, a Democratic journal of Morgantown, has ceased to exist. The Democracy should have better supported the Constitution, as pretensions in that direction have been good electioneering dodges.

—Capt. George Dewall, Inspector of Hulls at Memphis, fell from a plaza Monday night and injured himself so severely that no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

A LITTLE daughter of Mrs. Jane Brown, of Bellefonte, aged two years, was smothered to death last week, a fire occurring in the room where she was sleeping.

FORTY school teachers of Bradford county have been married during the past year. A school teacher's certificate is as good as a matrimonial one in that neighborhood.

AN extensive gang of horse-thieves, operating in Carbon, Luzerne, Monroe, Northampton, Schuylkill, Bucks, Berks and Lehigh counties, has been broken up and the ringleaders arrested.

THE devil has appeared in Snyder county in the shape of a dog having ears reaching to the ground, and from his nostrils and mouth emitting fire. A responsible citizen vouches for the truth of the apparition, but whether drunk or sober when he saw it deponent saith not.

The Greenville Argus says: "It is announced that the Bear Creek Railroad will positively be completed during the coming summer. It is also statd that the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad Company has purchased a controling interest in this road, which, if true, will insure its early completion and equipment."

THE vicinity of Pottsville is now the scene of a sleighing carnival. For six weeks the traveling has been done on runners. The white sides of the mountains are relieved only by the black specks on the sides, known as "breakers," in which the anthracite coal is prepared for the market.

AT Pottsville the collieries now are nearly all idle, and with every probability that they will remain so for several weeks. The operators, on account of the closing of navigation, have reduced the wages of the men, thereby vacating their labor, as the miners are chiefly in a Union which forbids them working at less than "Union" rates.

ST. BRIDGET'S Academy at Titusville was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 14th. The cost of the structure and contents was over $10,000, and the insurance amounted to $3,000. A portion of the furniture was saved. The Sisters of Charity and the orphans under their charge lose their home by the disaster, and 150 children are thrown out of school.

The Warren Mail says that Charley O'Bail, the only surviving son of Cornplanter, died on the 31st of December and was buried on the 2nd inst. He always maintained that he was born during the "big war," undoubtedly meaning the Revolution, and must have been upwards of eighty years old. With him the line of chiefs of the Cornplanter Indians becomes extinct.

—At McGregor, Ind., Tuesday morning, C. Wright, druggist, while making change for a woman who had been making purchases, was struck on the head by a Dr. Miller, who had subsequently entered the store, and was also attacked by the woman.
